GDPR - General Data Protection Regulations

The EU General Data Protection Regulations (GDPR) add extra responsibilities to the Data Protection Act 1998 on the 25th of May, 2018. All businesses that handle personal data must ensure that they are aware of the new rules and must examine the processes they currently have in place to ensure they continue to comply with the law.

To assist this website to comply with these requirements I am seeking your agreement to continue holding your membership details in the site database.

The Membership registration details held on site for each member are as follows:-

User Name; Password; First Name; Surname; Gender; Email Address; Location of Work in terms of Dept, Area, Region.& Telephone Number (this is Optional) More recent members have been required to indicate in a mandatory field, their agreement to their details being held. This was not required by the earlier registration process up to sometime in 2015.

You can view and update your details, you will need your user name and password, then on the site home page, in the Membership Functions menu, select Update your Profile.

If you agree to your details continuing to be held on the site database you do not need to do anything.

If you do not agree to your details being held on the site database You can Update/Delete your Personal Profile from the Membership Functions menu or you can email me Bill Rees - wm.rees@icloud.com to request removal of your details
